

HELLO AGAIN

VOL 17 NO. 5

SEP-OCT 1986

A PERSONAL NOTE: PLEASE NOTE::My address is now changed effective immediately...Box 4321, Hamden, CT 06514. Karen and I bought a house and all the books, tapes, etc are going into the house. The 795-6261 phone number is now out of service. The 248-2887 is still good.

CONVENTION '86: Dates are Oct. 24 and 25. Also coming are ERNEST RICCA (Director); VIVIAN DELLA CHIESA (singer) American Album of Familiar Music, American Melody Hour; NANCY COLEMAN; ALICE REINHART; EDDIE LAYTON; FRED COLLINS (announcer) X-1, Radio City Playhouse...FRANK BRESEE may also join us. Besides hosting and writing the Golden Days of Radio for 20 years, he was in Major Hoople, A Date with Judy and other shows...Not coming are Mary Small and Harry Sosnik...Mitchell Weisberg, 620 Greenbrier Ct, Fredericksburg, VA 22401 is planning a different type of trivia contest for the convention; it will be based on 3 different game shows (Family Feud-teams of 5, Super Password-teams of 2, Twenty Questions-individuals). If you want to participate, let Mitchell know in advance so he can plan the number of contestants and game times. Partial teams will be combined to form full teams...The re-creation on Friday night will be an episode of The Whistler with Alice Reinheart playing her original role. The science fiction workshop on Saturday will include a reading of X-1.

TO ALL SPECIAL GUESTS: We are looking forward to your arrival at the upcoming convention. We hope you can arrive early enough to meet with us and perhaps attend some of the daytime activities. A program is enclosed. If your plans have changed, and you cannot attend this year, please let me know as soon as possible so we can plan accordingly. If you need transportation, please contact Anthony Tollin at (201) 575-6849. See you in October.

RADIO IS ALIVE AND WELL: I was given the wrong information. It is WMCA and not WMAQ that is airing 10 different Charles Michelson shows from 9-10 pm. Many are not circulated (Six Shooter, Sgt. Preston of the Yukon).. September 30th marked one year that Kathy O'Connell and Larry Orfaly have been hosting "Kids America" on WNYC-FM in NYC. It is carried on about 25 stations by American Public Radio. It is aimed at 6 - 12-year olds and is on WNYC-FM on Mondays from 6:30-8:00 pm. Kathy has used old-time radio quite a bit...GUIDING LIGHT broadcast its 10,000th episode on Sep 18. It's the only serial still on the air that made the transition from radio.

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED: SPERDVAC, Aug, articles on Florence Halop, Lucille Wall...NOSTALGIA DIGEST, Oct-Nov, articles on Frank Nelson and Woody Herman.

BOOKS and MAGAZINES: A new book is "The Other Side of the Microphone" by Owens Pomeroy. Owens reminisces and recalls the frenzied years of broadcasting. It is full of information and is entertaining. Proceeds will help the Old-time Radio Museum Exhibit and Hall of Fame in Baltimore, MD. Cost is $7.95 including postage. Send to: Old-time Radio Book, 3613 Chestnut Ave., Baltimore, MD 21211. Make checks payable to Golden Radio Buffs of Md.

{ } If box is checked, $10 is due for another year

CONVENTIONS: Don't forget SPERDVAC'S annual convention Nov 7-9, 1986. Cost is $60 if sent in before Oct. 3rd, $70 for everything after that date. Hotel rooms are $49 per night/double occupancy. Contact the Viscount Hotel at 800 255-3000. For details and place to send registration write Spervac 1986 Convention, Box 4369, Covina, CA 91723.

A NEW PUBLICATION: A 24-page supplement to my booklet on Circulating Shows is now available for $8.00. For it to make sense, the booklet on Circulating Shows must also be purchased for $17.50. Some booklets are still available. This supplement has many new shows, many new dates of broadcast and many corrections and additions to the number of shows available.

LOGS: Two logs (Charlie Wild and Time for Love) are available from Ray Stanich, 173 Columbia Hts, Brooklyn, NY 11201. Send him a SASE for each.

NEW SHOWS AND CATALOGS: BOB BURNHAM, Box 39522, Redford, MI 48239 has a new catalog out-many reels and cassettes. His Listening Guide Book, revision of his Technical Guide, will be available at the convention for $12.95..DON ASTON, 1301 No. Park Ave, Inglewood, CA 90302 has a new supplement with new episodes of The Whistler, Dragnet, Gunsmoke and Have Gun will Travel...Also note new shows on flyers enclosed.

NEW FRIENDS AND RETURNEES: DOUG KOSMONEK, #315 8500 Lansdowne Rd, Richmond, BC, Canada V6X 1B9...BRENT PELLEGRINI, 5121 NE 75, Seattle, WA 98115...DOUGLAS ROYCRAFT, 1280 A Youngs Rd, Williamsville, NY 14221.

OLD FRIENDS: Tom Price, Box 1661, Salinas, CA 93901 has both Fibber McGee Lux shows...JOHN BARBER, 1807 1/2 Burgundy, New Orleans, LA 70116 is piloting a new OTR show on WSMB(AM) in New Orleans, Wed, 7-8 pm. He also has a copy of a radio script written by Rod Serling while in Antioch College (A Machine to Answer the Question); 8 pages ($2.00)--also a copy of the first episode of Hitchhikers Guide to the Galaxy, 16 pages ($2.50)...Word has it that Gary Dudash of AM Treasures is considering selling just cassettes some time in the future. One collector has already offered him well over $7500 for his present reel-to-reel catalog.

IN FOND MEMORY: FRANK NELSON, Sep 12, 75; I first got to know Frank at an old-time radio get together in Hyannis several years ago. Two years ago he and Veola were guests at our convention. Besides being a delight to be with, a very talented actor, and very active in AFTRA, Frank had a remarkable memory, being able to recall many events in radio.

GLAN (GLEN) HEISCH, Jul 27, 78; radio producer and writer (Cinnamon Bear, Harvest of Stars)...CHARLES LIVINGSTON, Jul 28, 83; radio director and producer (Green Hornet, Lone Ranger)...HELEN MACK, 72; radio, stage, film actress, director (A Date With Judy, Beulah)...MILDRED FENTON GOETZE, Aug 6, 69; radio, tv director-producer (Detect and Collect, Front Page Drama)...HARRY BOMM, Aug 27, 90; vaudevillian and screen and radio producer (Coke Time)...LESTER GOTTLEIB, Sep 6, 73; Radio and tv producer and director (Sing it Again)...VIRGINIA GREGG, Sep 13, actress (Ellery Queen, Let George Do It)

Oboler Reveals Radio Mother Lode

Radio Dramatist Of Yesteryear Sells Rights To Recordings For Syndie, Cassettes

Hollywood — Radio and tv has its equivalent of the art world's Andrew Wyeth story.

It's the discovery of a huge cache of virtually unheard radio works produced, directed and written by Arch Oboler between the late 1930s and mid-1940s.

To many critics, Oboler was the quintessential radio dramatist, a sure and imaginative craftsman creating for "the theater of the mind."

There are some 850 recordings on 16-inch disks in the Oboler mother lode, 52 half-hours of which are being prepared by Minneapolis-based Metacom Inc. for radio syndication and home audio cassette sales. Metacom is a leader in the licensing and exclusive releasing of nostalgia radio programming.

In addition to these initial 52 programs, all originally part of Oboler's "Lights Out" series for network radio, Metacom has negotiated rights to at least 11 original Oboler dramas made before, during and immediately after World War II.

These include what Oboler considers among his finest broadcasts and are performed by some of the most prominent of film actors including Katharine Hepburn, Raymond Massey, Norma Shearer, Olivia de Havilland, Bette Davis, Lloyd Nolan, Jimmy Stewart, Paul Muni and Ingrid Bergman. "For over 40 years they have rested unplayed and unknown," confirms Oboler.

Metacom, which may market this series of varying length more-serious dramas under the umbrella of "Yesterday, Today & Tomorrow," is currently holding them for future release.

James McCann, president of Metacom, acknowledges some difficulty in positioning these plays for today's market, but suggests that at the Consumer Electronics Show in Las Vegas in January plans may have been completed for a release of the materials in March 1987.

Oboler, who personally always reminded listeners that "Lights Out" stories were "definitely not for the timid soul," and "calmly and very sincerely" would caution them if they frightened easily to "turn off your radio NOW," has cut additional intros to some of the material under license to Metacom.

Today's listener will get to hear both the Oboler voice of 40 years ago and the septuagenarian Oboler, still thoughtful and commanding. Cassette versions of "Lights Out" (actually marketed under the title "Lights Out Everybody") already have entered the marketplace. The radio syndication, handled by The Broadcasting Connection, Portland, Ore., is scheduled to begin in about 30 days, according to Victor Ives, president of the radio distribution firm.

"The quality is excellent," assures Ives about the 52 half-hours he expects to make available to 160 radio stations across the country. Martin Halperin, the sound recording engineer responsible for transferring the Oboler material from 16-inch disks to tape, reports spending hours cutting out "clicks and pops" from the original recordings.

Some of the 850 broadcasts, stored in Oboler's Frank Lloyd Wright-designed home in the Santa Monica Mountains, suffered from moisture damage and from the gnawing of rats, according to Halperin. Most of the recording disks were of aluminum, but others, because of wartime shortages, were made of glass. The glass disks, reports Halperin, actually offered better quality, but some of them broke.

Oboler, declaring "It's an author's privilege to tear up the script," deems only about 150 of the broadcasts worthy of a rehearing by today's audience. He's particularly enthusiastic about the 11 plays now being packaged under the "Yesterday, Today & Tomorrow" title. They originally were broadcast as "Arch Oboler's Plays" and vary in length from a half-hour to 90 minutes.

McCann of Metacom conceded that the plays are "dripping in patriotism" but expresses confidence in their marketability.

Oboler's plays won many awards including the Peabody Award. A graduate of the U. of Chicago, he was a network radio writer in the 1930s, working for the "Rudy Vallee Hour" (Standard Brands), "Irene Rich" (Welch's Grape Juice) and "Grand Hotel" (Campana Sales), before being asked to write and produce "Lights Out," then a sustaining suspense-drama 15-minute series broadcast over NBC every Tuesday at midnight. It was created by Wyllis Cooper.

For the last five years Oboler has been relatively inactive suffering from a debilitating inner-ear problem. But his condition is currently in remission and he's back at the typewriter and recently completed a novel, and two-thirds of "Mr. Vegas," a theatrical play.

Oboler spent 16 years and a bundle of his own money trying to develop first 3-D and then 4-D "Space Vision" as a new depth motion picture process. He wrote and produced two motion pictures using the new technology, the 1953 "Bwana Devil" and the 1964 "The Bubble."

He claims a third extra dimensional process film, "Domo Arigato," which was produced in Japan, but never exhibited.
